Colgate & Co.,

Oldest and largest American

Soap Makers and Perfumers.

vestigation of the condition of the party throughout the county, and to report its fadings and conclusions to the County Committee at as early a date as possible."

The resolution was passed quickly, and then a resolution offered by Abraham Gruber and amended at the suggestion of other members of the committee was passed, providing for the selection by members of the committee in the Assembly districts of inspectors to serve at the primaries when, by reason of the changes in election district boundaries, there were too many or too few inspectors regularly elected to serve

MR. YEREANCE INTERVENES.

The County Committee was ready to close its meeting then, apparently, but the real fun of the meeting was just about to begin. James Yereance, a delegate from the XXIXth Assembly District, obtained recognition and began to speak about the necessity for gaining public confidence in the Republican organization, and the need for purging the rolls of the organization. As he proceeded he was listened to with attention, but with many evidences of disapproval, and other delegates scowled and moved about uneasily in their seats. President Quigg interrupted Mr. Yereance at one point to ask if he intended to offer resolutions, and at another time he used his authority to compel the delegates to give a respectful hearing to the speaker.

gates to give a respectful hearing to the speaker.

Mr. Yereance said:

The time has come when this committee means to exercise the wisest possible judgment to the end that the Republican party in the State of New-York may secure to itself the support of every one who is in sympathy with Republican principles. I am extremely anxious that the Republican party shall command the respect and the confidence of the voters of this city. To that end it seems to me that it will be wise for us in the present condition of things to see that every reasonable objection that has been advanced toward our enrolment of Republican voters shall be heeded, and that so far as in us lies the enrolments shall be fust, honest, right and clean. I do not think that there is a single man upon this committee who will undertake for one moment. I do not purpose to make any reflections or to be personal upon this committee, or, indeed, any one who was actively concerned in the recent campaign. But it seems to me, and I speak now of the XXIXth District, with which I am familiar, that but 50 per cent of the enrolled voters were found to reside at the addresses given.

Therefore, if we would secure the co-operation and the honest support of all Republicans, we should seek to make the party clean and free from just criticism. With that object in view, it seems lost criticism. With that object in view, it seems lost criticism with that object in view, it seems lost criticism. With that object in view, it seems lost criticism. With that object in view, it seems lost criticism party can afford to have things right and clean. It is not Tammany. It is the Republican party, and I am sure that I speak the sentiment of yourself, Mr. President, because when you assumed office you expressed a desire that the June enrolment should be purged and should represent only honest voters in the Republican party. Another thing is that to keep those rolls pure there should be a certified copy lodged with the County Committee and open to the inspection at all times o

When Mr. Yereance read his resolutions there were howls at mention of the names of General McCook and Colonel Homer. The resolutions were as follows:

Whereas, From canvasses made during the recent Mayoralty campaign, it is clearly proven that the present Republican enroiment is grossly irregular, and in many cases fraudulent; it is therefore lar, and in many cases fraudulent; it is therefore. Resolved, That General Anson G. McCook, the Hon. Richard J. Lewis, the Hon. William M. K. Olcott, the Hon. Edward Mitchell and Colonel Charles F. Homer be and they are hereby constituted a committee to purge the rolls throughout the city of New-York of all names not entitled to be enrolled in the several election district Republican associations: that said committee shall furnish to the Republican County Committee, on or hefore December 6, 187, a correct list of properly enrolled Republicans entitled to vote at the primaries on December 14, and such enrolment, so revised, shall constitute the basis for the number of delegates to be elected to the Assembly district conventions to elect members of the Republican County Committee.

Resolved That in order to carry this resolution of delegates to be elected to the Assembly district conventions to elect members of the Republican County Committee.

Resolved, That, in order to carry this resolution into effect, the secretary of the County Committee is hereby directed to place at the disposal of said Committee on Revision of the Rolls all rolls or copies of rolls of the different election district associations in his possession.

Resolved, That a copy of the rolls of the several Republican election district associations, certified by the secretary of the County Committee, shall be open at all times during business hours at the office of the Republican County Committee to the inspection of any enrolled Republican.

Resolved, That election district association officers enter upon their earoiment books the following clause, to which all Republicans hereafter to be enrolled shall subscribe, being the same as originally printed in the enrolment books, viz.:

'I reside at the address set opposite my signature. I am a voter and a Republican. I desire to promote the success of the Republican party, and intend to act with it at the next election.'

Resolved, That at all Republican conventions, Assembly, district and county, it shall be the right and duty of such conventions to choose their own temporary and permanent officers.

HISSED, OF COURSE. HISSED, OF COURSE.

Before the storm of hisses and howls that followed the reading of the resolutions had subsided, General Collis got up and said: "I think the Republican party can do without all extraneous help, and I move that the resolutions be laid upon the table." Mr. Yereance said he wanted the resolutions Mr. Yereance said he wanted the resolutions to be taken up seriatin, as ordered by the committee's constitution. Delegates from the Ist and XXIXth districts obtained hearings to say that the enrolments in their districts were honest. Abraham Gruber made a speech, attacking General McCook and the Citizens Union, although General Collis declared that his motion to table the resolutions ought to be passed without debate, and that he would insist on the point of order if there were more personalities in the debate.

"I ask the gentleman," said Mr. Gruber, turning to Mr. Yercance, "If he wants a pledge that will be suitable for Tammany Hall men to enroll in our ranks?"

in our ranks?"
"No man who voted for Tammany can be a Republican, and therefore he cannot subscribe to the stipulation that he is a Republican," replied Mr. Yereance.
"Oh, then, he draws the line at Tammany Democrats only!" sneered Mr. Gruber, and the delegates expressed their approval with shouts or laughter.

"I place myself on the Republican platform of 1894, declaring non-partisanship in municipal affairs," said Mr. Yereance, and there were

"And I place myself on the platform that no man is a Republican who votes for any Demo-crat," said Mr. Gruber, and there were loud

INDORSING QUIGG.

Otto Irving Wise got up and said he wanted to offer a substitute for the resolutions offered by Mr. Yereance. He read the substitute as loyalty and support.

Resolved. That the committee of the Republican Organization of this county, at its first meeting held after the recent election, heartily indores the actions of the president of this committee during the last campaign, and pledges to him its continued loyalty and support.

There was a wrangle, in which General Collis, Mr. Wise and Frederick S. Gibbs took part. Mr. Gibbs wanted to vote to disapprove the resolutions offered by Mr. Yereance, instead of laying them on the table. Mr. Quigg made an attempt to disentangle the argument by saying that the resolutions before the committee were not in order, because they provided for a violation of the committee's constitution. In the end General Collis withdrew his motion and allowed a vote on the Yereance resolutions. There were loud calls for a rising vote, and Mr. Quigg put the resolutions to vote that way. Mr. Yereance was the only delegate who rose to vote for his resolutions. All the others got up to vote for his resolutions. All the others got up to vote for his resolutions. All the others got up to vote for his resolutions. All the others got up to vote for his resolutions. All the others got up to vote for his resolutions and allowed the work was much derisive laughter when the result of the vote was announced by Mr. Quigg no. There was much derisive laughter when the result of the vote was announced by Mr. Quieg as one for the resolutions, and "how many against I don't know."

Mr. Gibbs then moved the adoption of the resolution which had been read by Mr. Wise, and he proceeded to put the motion himself. The resolution was carried unanimously, not a voice in the negative being raised in the hall. MR. QUIGG'S REMARKS.

Hood's Are carefully prepared from purely vegetable ingredients, and are mild yet certain in effect. They cure all liver troubles, billoueness, headache, indigestion. 25c.

Mr. Quigg got up, stepped to the front of the platform, smiled a little at the applause which greeted him, and said:

platform, smiled a little at the applause which greeted him, and said:

I had no idea of making any remarks of any sort at this meeting to-night. But I thank you for the expression of confidence contained in the resolution which you have just adopted. I had no doubt that the members of the County Committee would approve of the course inken by the Chair throughout the campalgn, for the reason that the course taken by the Chair was the course of the County Committee. (Applause.)

The situation presented throughout the campaign was a very simple one. There was an organization formed which had a platform and which had a candidate. Its platform said that it could not have relations with the Republican party or with any other State or National party, and that its candidate could have no such relations, and the Republican party was invited by certain of its own adherents to adopt that platform and nominate that candidate. (Laughter.) Now, of course, that could not be done. It did not need to be dehated or considered unless, of course, the Republican party in the State of New-York intended to cease to exist. There was no compromise possible at any time. The Republican organization, as everybody knows, sought to effect a union with the Citizens Union; sought it nevery way that was consistent with honor and manhood. The Republican organization invited the Citizens Union into a conference, and everybody knows that public opinion would have compelled a result in that conference, and everybody knows that the conference. Everybody knows that the conference and everybody knows that the conference.

WHAT THE FIGURES SHOW.

WHAT THE FIGURES SHOW.

What would be the result? It would be the nomination of a union candidate. There was a time in the controversy, before the lines were drawn, when that candidate might have been their candidate conceivably. There was certainly a time ould have been filed when a result could have been obtained that would have been entirely consistent with every principle that the Citizens Union stood for in this campaign. They knew knew it. It was done successfully in 1894.

it does not seem therefore as though there were any room left for a discussion as to whose the responsibility has been.

Throughout the campaign the one hope and the one object of everything which your organization has done was to secure a union of all the forces possible to be arrayed against Tammany Hall. Tammany Hall is in a minority in the city of New-Yors. It has no right to be in office, by virtue of its numbers as against the numbers of those who do not believe in Tammany Hall and its principles. Now, these gentlemen of the Citizens Union say that their purpose is to continue their organization. They say that they purpose to run candidates against Republican candidates; that they purpose always to seek to withdraw from Republican candidates enough "otes, not to elect theirs—they know that is impossible—but to elect Tammany candidates. Isn't it a shame? Isn't it a reproach? Is it not infinitely wicked? (Cheers.)

ABOUT THE ENROLMENT. I should like to say a word with regard to some of the statements made by the gentleman from the XXIXth. I do not doubt his statement when he says that his resolutions are offered in sincerity and in good faith. But it is not true that the en-relment of the Republican party is in any sense a dishonest enrolment. I repeat it is not true. (Cheers.) There is no way to show that it is true, but there is a way to show that it is not true, and we have taken that way. During the campaign I sent a letter sealed and under a two-cent stamp, to every enrolled voter. In June we had revised our rolls and added to their number. We had surfacen from the rolls over twenty-seven thousand names, and we had added about twenty-eight thousand. Now, about this election district enrolment. I undertake the statement that no election district enrolment could be made which in six months from the time it was made would not be 20 per cent wrong. There is no doubt of that, It has been proved again and again. Eighty-three thousand names were upon our rolls. We sent the sealed letter from the Republican headquarters—to be returned there again in case of non-delivery—to every enrolled voter. We received back from the postoffice a few more than twelve thousand of these letters, over seventy thousand found their destination and were delivered. Now those are the facts in the case. They don't show fraud at all. They show that you cannot make an election district enrollment which won't be 20 per cent wrong inside but there is a way to show that it is not true, and In the case. They don't show fraud at all. They show that you cannot make an election district enrolment which won't be 20 per cent wrong inside of six months. The Republican enrolment is honest and sound and right, and there never will be created under the sun of heaven an election district enrolment one whit more sound and honest. There cannot be. Why, the goatlemen from the XXIXth knows that we had this enrolment last summer. Every one of the 1,892 meeting-places was advertised. The voters came out, they enrolled, and we had about forty or fifty complaints from all over the great city of New-York.

"ALL SUBTERFUGE."

"ALL SUBTERFUGE."

Gentlemen, this talk about new enforment is an subterfuge. This talk about scapegoats, and sacrifices, and things of that sort, is simply dishonest. morning, and there was a burst of appliance. and give to them out of your own hands and of your free will the earth and the fulness thereof. they will be satisfied. (Laughter.) Well, it may be well enough to do it. That is a matter of consideration. (Laughter.) On my part, I will promise to consider it. But meanwhile we will hold primaries. The offer was made last June to every Republican to come and enroil. They came, and they did enroil, and the enrolment, when it was completed, had the commendation of every voice that is now crying "fraud." Every newspaper in New-York that commented upon it, all except the Democratic papers, said it was a righteous enrolment. The names were there. I dare say the name of General Anson G. McCook may be there, although I know of no contribution that he has made to the cause of Republicanism very recently. I dare say that the name of the gentleman from the XXIXth, the gentleman who did not vote the Republican ticket in this election, is on—
Mr. Yereance (interrupting)—On what authority do you make that statement? they will be satisfied. (Laughter.) Well, it may be do you make that statement?

Mr. Quigg-I made it on the authority provided by the gentieman from the XXIXth himself, that he direct a statement, concerning which I made injury of him personally as to the authenticity of its signature, advocating the candidacy of another for Mayor.

his signature, acvocating the for Mayor.

Mr. Yercance—That does not warrant you in making the statement you have just uttered.

Mr. Quisg—Well, I withdraw it.

Mr. Yercance—I wish to say that I voted the Republican ticket at the last election. (Laughter and ironical cries.) I voted for the Republican candidate for the Judge of the Court of Appeals, which constituted the Republican ticket. (Renewed laugh-date for the Judge (proceeding)—I withdraw the statement. I will have no controversy with the gentleman from the XXIXth. I urge upon the Republican County Committee, upon its membership and upon all officers of election districts to pursue a course of moderation, fairness and consideration. We must remember that a hundred thousand Republicans are in no position to discipline a hundred thousand other Republicans. The remark has been made that you cannot indict a State. You cannot it is very clear to every fair-minded man that if the Republicans who fought for Seth Low and the Republicans who fought for General Tracy must be brought together. I am one of those who desire that they shall be brought together. I will make every personal sacrifice—if there is a personal sacrifice to be made—which can induce them to come together. The Republican party must be united again.

There was no applause when Mr. Quigg resumed his seat, his closing words about being ready to make any personal sacrifice for union in the party having an apparent effect to make many of the delegates sad. Mr. Gibbs at once moved that the committee adjourn, and in a moved that the committee adjourn, and in a minute longer the meeting was over.

As the members of the committee were making their way out of the hall, some of them freed their minds in the following manner:

"The enrolment is a fraud, anyway."

"Yes, let us do away with it, and let all good men vote."

"It is a pity Yereance interfered with the harmony of the convention."

"I wonder what will happen next."

"I was going to answer Yereance.

"I was going to answer Yercance.
"Why didn't you?"
"Well, I was afraid the enrolment in my district might come up, and then it would have been a giveaway on us."

"I wonder what will become of the party "I don't care, as long as we keep the organization all right.

PROVED

From The Cincinnati Enquirer. "What right have you to say that women are model?"
"Just this: You must admit that it takes a logical process to arrive at a conclusion?"
"M'm-yes."

"And a woman never arrives at a conclusion. She may be stopped temporarily, but she never concludes."

A SLIGHT DIFFERENCE. From The Indianapolis Journal.

Watts-It doesn't seem quite fair to me that the theological school should have expelled that student who married a couple in a lion's case. Didn't Daniel have something to do with a batch of lions Daniel didn't deem it necessary to have a trainer along with a club.

WILLING TO ACCOMMODATE.

From The Cincinnati Enquirer. Mr. Grouch-I never give money to beggars.

Husky Hawkins-Oh, you don't? If I'd knowed that, I'd 'a (biff) took it away from you in the first place and not bothered you wit' the story of my troubles. A. OLIVOTTI & CO. IMPORTERS OF Artistic Furniture Works of Art Beautiful articles for House Decoration an

305 FIFTH AVENUE

(NEAR SIST STREET) THE SHOW GOES MERRILY ON ANOTHER STEP IN ITS TRIUMPHAL PROGRESS.

CROWDS AT THE MADISON SQUARE GARDEN GREATER AND MORE REPRESENTATIVE THAN

> JUDGES CAUSE DISSATISFAC-TION-FAVORITES OF THE PUBLIC.

The Horse Show advanced another step in its trlumphal progress yesterday. The attendance of Wednesday, large as it was, was not so remarkable as that which crowded Madison Square Garden during the better part of the day and evening yesterday. The morning crowd came early and grew steadily until the luncheon hour approached. The afternoon crowd was the biggest of the week, and in the evening the great Garden was packed from promenade to skylight with the throng of fashionable and other folk who came to see one another and the horses. In the evening the only seats not occupied were up near the roof with the band. The promenade was so choked with humanity that progress of the judges have seldom if ever in the history of the show created so much dissatisfaction as in the present week. Twice at least in the course of the week the awards have been hissed. once on Monday and once again last evening. and the dissatisfaction seems to be on the in-affect the success of the show, which goes merrily and buoyantly on in its brilliant career, and whose success will not abate until the last prize night is "seguants' night." Everybody knows that society has not called the Horse Show into being for the benefit of its servants, on Saturday night or any other. WATCHING THE HORSES EXERCISED.

A TANGLED TANDEM.

The usual crowd of railbirds was on hand to see the horses exercised in the early morning, but the crowd did not begin to arrive until the Gentlemen, this talk about new enrolment is all John Robinson's mare, Mayflower, was a pop-

There were only three stallions entered in the competition for the Trotting Horse Produce Frize. All were two-year-olds, as the conditions stipulated.

The blue ribbon was given to Quartermaster, ir., a son of Quartermaster, owned by H. N. Bain. The same owner's Master Elect, also by Quartermaster, took second, while The Earl, by Mambrino King, owned by C. J. and Harry Hamlin, got the yellow ribbon. In the same class for three-year-old fillies and geidings, J. W. Cooke's Beleka was victorious. Mambrino King's daughter, Nettle King, owned by C. J. and Harry Hamlin, won first award among the broad trattle.

brood trotting mares, with Strathmore's daughter, Regalo, owned by Edward Appel, second. The crowd came early in the afternoon and by 3:30 the promenade was decked with the customary Horse Show crowd, one layer sticking to the rail and watching the horses, and two other layers revolving in opposite directions and crowd grew even greater, and at that hour the Garden held one of the largest afternoon crowds in the history of the Horse Show. OPENING AFTERNOON CONTEST.

GETTING THE HEIGHT OF ONE OF THE PONIES.

The opening afternoon contest was for ponies in harness, John S. Bratton's Dot taking an easy first.

E. T. H. Talmage has sent several good saddle horses to the show, and Oriflamme, the chestnut gelding who won first prize in the saddle-horse class yesterday afternoon, adds another to the number.

Colonel Lawrence Kip's handsome pair of mares, Emoleta and Mambrino Belle, took another blue ribbon for him against such good pairs as C. M. Reed's Alice Leyburn and Georgie M., who were second. Colonel Kip's pair got the popular verdict, as well as that of the judges. The tandem teams always give an exhibition that is of the show showy. They are light, alry, fanciful and care-free in appearance, and thus patently typical of the animating spirit of the Horse Show. There were some showy teams in the ring yesterday afternoon that didn't win any ribbons, among them E. D. Jordan's Elegance and Eccles Wonder, and Thomas M. Hillliard's beautiful mare Delight and Montie.

ready attendants prevented any damage to horses, carts or drivers.

C. F. Bates again delighted his claque by winning once more with Coxey and Brown Donna against W. L. Elkins's Redbreast and Robin, who took second. Richard F. Carman's A Stranger in New-York and Walsingham being unplaced. Mrs. Frances Lee Morrell's pair, Thelma and Waldmar, made a strong impression on everybody save the judges.

FIRST IN THE HERD CLASS.

Old Chimes was placed first in the herd class, with The Abbot among his get shown, Rundle & White's Quartermaster going only second. Only five polo ponies appeared at the blast of the bugle, and George F. Myers's Tiger was adjudged the best.

There were more objections when the judges made known their decision in the contest for high steppers. In this class appeared John Robinson's famous Storm King, winner of no end of blue ribbons in England; Charles A. Baudolne's Rocket and Superbus, Louis W. Wormser's Masterpiece, John Arthur's Lady Bird, J. A. Foster's Warwick, James Stillman's Sundown, Thomas M. Hilliard's Flash, and a plenty of other good ones.

Storm King's appearance was very spectacular, and it didn't take the crowd half as long to pick him out for the blue ribbon as it took the judges to award the coveted decoration to Sundown. They gave Storm King second, Flash third and A Stranger in New-York fourth. The award was roundly hissed, as was the defeat of Coxey and Von Harbinger in another high-stepper class on Monday, and some horsemen said that Sundown actually showed lame

In Clars No. 107, for municipal police horses, In Clars No. 107, for municipal police horses, the contest was somewhat disappointing. The riders hestiated frequently in sending their animals through the evolutions, and on one occasion a number of them lost their heads completely, and it was some time before they found their places after the resulting disarrangement. Some fine animals were, however, shown, and Peter, ridden by Patrolman T. Sheehan, of the Thirty-third Precinct, gained the first prize of $200.

$200.

The last contest of the day was in Class No. 104, for best performance of hunters or jumpers over six successive jumps, five feet high. Ralph Pulitzer's American Beauty was easily first in this competition, taking the hurdles easily and gracefully. The announcement that this horse took the first prize was expected by every one, and was greeted with loud applause.

The smoothness with which the various parts of the programme have been run off this year.

The smoothness with which the various parts of the programme have been run off this year is even more remarkable than usual. The appointments of the big Garden were never more perfect. The accommodations for representatives of the newspapers are especially complete and satisfactory, and they are in no small measure the result of the efficient and thorough work done by Charles P. Sawyer, who, this year, as before, represents the National Horse Show Association in its dealings with the newspaper men.

AWARDS MADE YESTERDAY.

The awards yesterday were as follows:

and Harry Hamlin, won first award among the Class 100 Green hunters (light weight), up to carrying under 165 pounds to hounds. First prize, $150, won by Henry Illum's Ruby second prize, $75, Adam Beck's Melrase; third prize, $35, W. D. Grand's Red Oak; highly commended, Joseph E. Wildener's Electricity. Class Si. Fonies exceeding 13 hands 1 inch, and not exceeding 14 hands 1 inch, and not exceeding 14 hands 1 inch, and not expends, $100, won by Joseph E. Widener's Princess, second prize $50. Adam Beck's Marxie; third prize, $25, Miss. Martha Cameron's Wasp; highly commended, James T. Hyde's Diavalents.

Mertha Cameron's Wasp; highly commended, James Hyde's Plavelesta.
Class 51-High stepper, not under 15 hands 2 inches, class 51-High stepper, not under 15 hands 2 inches, all ground action only to be considered; to be shown to an appropriate two-wheeled vehicle: Pirst prize, $150, won by James Stillman's Sundown; second prize, $75, Mrs. John Robinson's Storm King; third prize, $35, Mrs. John Robinson's Storm King; third prize, $35, Prize John Robinson's Storm King; third prize, $35, Prize John Robinson's Storm King; third prize, $35, Carman's A Stranger in New York.
F. Carman's A Stranger in New York.
Class 167-Municipal police horses, the best and best class 167-Municipal police horses, the best and best friend police horses to be considered First prize, $250, won by Febr, ridden by Patroliman T. Sheshan, $250, won by Febr, ridden by Patroliman F. Fink, Thirty-third Precinct, intrity prize, $25, Prize, ridden by Patroliman A. Osbaro, Thirty-fourth Precinct, Class 104-For best performance of hunters or jumpers Class 104-For best performance of hunters or jumpers.

NEW FACES IN THE BOXES.

MRS. ASTOR AND MRS. JOHN JACOB ASTOR AMONG THE VISITORS-OTHER PROM-INENT PERSONS SEEN.

One of the earliest visitors to the show yester day was Mrs. John Jacob Astor, who came with Winthrop Rutherford. Mrs. Astor wore a costume of dark green velvet and fur. She was in the box occupied by the Misses Wetmore.

Mrs. William Astor, in a gown of black velvet and fur, was another of the new faces seen yesterday Some of the others present were Mr. and Mrs.

Amory S. Carhart, who have just come to town for the winter from Tuxedo; Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Waiter Lispenard Suydam, H. Maitland Kersey, Dr. Francis P. Kinnicutt, Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Alexandre, Mrs. Charles Perkins, Rene La Montague, Miss Helen Benedict, Mrs. Stanford White, H. Ray Miller, P. J. Casey, Colone, M. O'Brien, who made several circuits of the show with Father Slattery, rector of the Church of St. Catharine of Genoa, ington Heights; Isaac Brokaw, Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. E. Reeve Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Egerton L. Winthrop, Ir. E. L. Winthrop, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. H. Payne Whitney, Miss Duer, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Larocque, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. La Montagne, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Montant, Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins, Miss Clarkson, Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mairs, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gebhard, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Post, Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCreery, Hamilton Cary, Miss Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Alexande M. Shaw, Miss Mabel Shaw and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hamilton.

There were several thousand well-known people at the Garden last night, and the attendance was far and away the largest and most brilliant of the ington Heights; Isaac Brokaw, Mr. and Mrs. Pres-

ORIENTAL RUGS,

Modern and Antique Carpets and Rugs.

A MOST COMPLETE ASSORTMENT OF SIZES AND COLORINGS. EMBROIDERIES, FURNITURE AND ...

... ART WARES FROM THE ORIENT

Van Gaasbeek & Arkell

BROADWAY, 22D ST. AND 5TH AVE.

Colebrook, who was in white satin, covered with lace, and a tiny toque of violet velvet. Miss Morosini has been a daily visitor at the show, and her handsome costumes attracted much attention. She wore last night a costume of gray, trimmed with old lace, and a diamond chain which was much admired.

Some of the spectators were Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCreery, who had as their guests Miss Willing and Miss Winthrop; Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Dyer, Jr., David Wolfe Bishop, T. Suffern Taller, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewlit, Mrs. Burke Roche, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Hewke, Mr. and Mrs. J. Van Ronsselaer Kennedy, the Misses Weimore, Baron Rossenkranz, Julian Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Harriman. Jr., Perry Gelmont, Alexander Proudfit, Mr. and Mrs. Uningeld Scott, the Misses Livingston, Mrs. W. J. Crosswell, Miss Crosswell, Miss Kenly, Miss Alice Kenly, Mrs. Rink, all of Wilmington, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hyams, of New-Orleans; Miss May O'Brien, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. B. W. Wrenn, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Welf and others were guests of Mrs. H. B. Plant in box No. 18

Interest in the Horse Show Increases, rather than diminishes, as the show nears its end. Some of the young men known as "chapples" are as jealous woman ever was created as vain as some of the "chapples" at the Horse Show. It is all right in evening, when the regulation evening dress 'makes all chapples look allke" so far as dress is concerned. It is the morning and the afternoor that bring agony to him. Only think of the dis-concerned. It is the morning and the afternoon that bring agony to him. Only think of the disappointments of a well-known youth who boasted that he had walstcoats for every day of the show of patterns gathered up especially for him, and made to order in London, when he appeared at the ring side yesterday morning and discovered that Charles F. Bater's ample chest and abdomen were covered with a waistcoat of the same pattern as the "real thing" he imported from London! He gasped: "I have been betrayed," and the Horse Show will know him no more this year.

M. J. O'Brien, Joseph Mora, James R. Keene, T. L. Edmondson, Harry Smith, Harry Hamlin, P. J. Glenson, W. E. D. Stokes, Paul Andrews, E. D. Morgan, Mason Jannag, James W. Cook, Prescott Lawrence, John Bratton, Thomas M. Hilliard and many other expect horsemen viewed and exchanged opinions about the horses yesterday afternoon and evening. The class for the best road team and best appointed outfit was won fairly by Colone! Lawrence Kip's Emoleta and Mambrino Bell. There was more enthusiasm over the exhibition made by this class than any other in the show. Charles M. Reed's brown mares Alice Leyburn and Georgie decision was warmly applicated.

Tandem drivers at the Horse Show are few and far between. To drive horses tandem, the driver should at least be capable of taking them out of the stable and turning a corner without the aid of a groom. The tandem class started in to give an exhibition similar to a Rugby football game. Some of the teams kicked and cavorted, one horse lay down and others got all tangled up so that it re-

John Robinson won a first prize with Mayflower, which made the genial sypsy extremely happy.

The show at the Waldorf-Astoria after the close of the Horse Show attracts large crowds of sight-seers.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME.

The programme for to-day is as follows: 10:15 a. m .- Judging 1 French coaching stallion, Class 88.

10:35 a. m .- Judging 11 yearling backney 30. 11 s. m.-Judging 5 pony stallions, Class 88. 11:15 a. m. Judging 9 standard-bred trotting two-year-old fillion, Class 9 11:45 a. m.—Judging 2 heavy draught stallions, Class 42, 11:55 a. m.—Judging hackney stallions for the juntor championship, Class 22.

12:10 p. m.- Judging hackney mares for the champton ship, Class 21. 12:20 p. m .- Judging hackney filles for the junior champtonship, Class 24.

pionship, Class 24.

12:80 p. m. - Judging 6 standard-bred trotting filles, two years old and under four, in harness, Class 14. 1 p. m.—Receve. 2 p. m.—Judging 5 pairs of ponies in harness, Class 69. 2:15 p. m.—Judging 4 .rotting stallions with a record of 2:25 or better, shown in harness, Class 11.

2:30 p. m. Judging 10 pairs of horses to be shown before a brougham, appointments to count, Class 56. p. m. Judzing hackney stalllons for the American Hackney Horse Society's Challenge Cup. Class 21.

3:15 p. m.—Judging 9 trotting stallions, any age, shown in harness, Class 12. 3:40 p. m.—Judging 5 road teams (four-in-bands), Class 4 p. m. Judging 2 read teams (four-in-hands) and appointments and quickest change of teams made in the 4:15 p. m.—Judging 33 ladies' saddle horses, ladies to ride, Class 77. ring. Class 65A. fide, Class 74. 4:45 p. m.—Judging 19 pairs of high steppers, Class 52. 5:25 p. m.—Judging 14 ladies' qualified hunters, Class 96.

8 p. m.-Judging 24 horses and hansom cabs as let for hire, Class 44 hire, Class 44,

8:50 p. m.—Judging 13 tandems, Class 60,

9 p. m.—Judging 17 horses in gigs for the Waldorf-Astoria Challenge Cub, Class 111, 9:30 p. m.—Judging 7 horses for the high jump, Class 105.

GENERAL CLAY'S YOUNG WIFE LEAVES HIM

SHE GOES TO HER BROTHER'S HOME, BUT HER HUSBAND'S FRIENDS SAY SHE WILL RETURN. Richmond, Ky., Nov. 18 (Special).-For several days it has been rumored that Dora Richardson Clay, the young wife of General Cassius Marcellus Clay, had left his home. A visit to Whitehall post-office to-night reveals the fact that she did leave General Clay's house about ten days ago, telling the General that she wished to go on a short visit to the home of her brother, Ciell Richardson, at Valley View. She is devoted to Ciell, and lived with him while he was overseer on General Clay's farm before her marriage. The General kept Ciell in his employ until a few months ago, and the young wife seemed satisfied as long as her brother's family was near, but when he and the General had a misunderstanding some months ago and Ciell lonesome, and for several weeks before she left her husband's home she would often importune the General to let her go to her brother's. The General's friends say she will return, but others think she will remain with her brother.

The General has been an indulgent husband to Dora, and has provided the finest wardrobe for her, bought her a fine plane, hired instructors to her, bought her a fine plane, hired instructors to teach her to play it, and employed private tutors to educate her in the English branches. It has been a difficult undertaking to polish this rough diamond, and, while the General does not admit it, his friends say that he feels he has failed. Being a disciple of Tolstol, he believed he could make an accomplished woman of the little "peasant girl," as he termed Dora, and his fallure, it is said, has shattered another one of his idols

ACADEMY OF MEDICINE ANNIVERSARY. The anniversary meeting of the New-York Academy of Medicine was held last night at Hosack Hall, No. 17 West Forty-third-st. Dr. Edward G. Hall, No. 1: West Forty-tinidest. Dr. Labasin of Janeway presided. Dr. A. Alexander Smith read a paper on the life of the late Dr. William T. Lusk, who held the chair at Bellevue Medical College at the time of his death, June 12 last. An anniversary discourse on "Sanitary Science, the Medical Profession and the Public" was read by Dr. Her-Interest of the first prize to Dr. George S. Montant, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mairs, The judges gave the first prize to Dr. George S. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mairs, Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mr. and Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mr. and Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mr. and Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mr. and Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mr. and Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mr. and Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Mrs. Alexander Mrs. W. H. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mrs. W. Mrs. Arthur M. Mrs. Alexander Mrs. W. H. Marthur M. Mrs. Alexander Mrs. William Mrs. Alexander Mrs. Mrs. Ale 372, 374, 376 Broome St., Just off Broadway. We invite inspection and comparison of our unrivalled exhibit of Private Carriages for Town and Country, surpassing in Variety, Form, Quality, and Finish any stock ever shown and fully warranted, offered at the Lowest Prices.

A GOOD STOCK OF SECOND-HAND VEHICLES, ALL STYLES, LOW PRICES.

ANDIRONS,

FENDERS. Gas Logs, Fire Sets and Screens.

We have just received from Paris a large importation of ANDIRONS, FENDERS and SCREENS, in LOUIS XVI and ROCOCO styles. Have also added to our large stock new goods of our own exclusive design, which we are selling at MANUFACTURERS' PRICES.

Conover Fireplace Mfg. Co., 7 and 9 West 30th Street, Near Fifth Avenue. Factory, 114-120 West 30th Street.

For a person interested in history or in forming a library of the best literature, no more welcome Christmas gift can be thought of than THE LIFE OF NAPOLEON, by Prof. William M. Sloane, as published by The Century Co., with nearly 800 full-page illustrations, 100 of them superb reproductions in the original colors of the masterpieces of Meissonier, Detaille, Gérôme, etc. The work itself is the standard life of Napoleon, so pronounced by all the great critics of America and Eng-

It is a wonderful specimen of book-making, and the binding of even the cheapest edition is sumptuous. We will send a copy for examination to any responsible person in New York or near by, or the work may be seen at The Century Co. office, 33 East 17th Street (Union Square).

Sterling Silver.

All our designs in sterling silver tableware are of superior workmanship. They cannot be found in department stores. Our Prices ares

Small teaspoons, 1, dos...... 83.50 Large teaspoons, & doz. 4.50 Dessert spoons and forks, 4 dos. 7.00 Tablespoons and forks, & doz 10.00

A. Frankfield & Co. Jewelers and Importers,

52 West 14th Street.

Ovington Bros. Co., 330 Fifth Avenue,

Near the Waldorf.

Our stock of fine china plates is both large and varied, including many beautiful and novel productions from Minton, Copeland, Worcester, Doulton, Limoges, Dresden and Vienna, now offering at prices as low as under the old tariff.

LEAKY VESSELS. From The Cleveland Plain Dealer. "Oh, talk away," he said, irritably, "there's nothing on earth that can hold a candle to a woman for steady palavering."
"Except a male diplomat," said she.
And the man was silent.

From The Cincinnati Enquirer.

"A granite tablet," said Asbury Peppers, "is a good thing to perpetuate one's memory, but for ordinary purposes a string around the finger answers very well." MR. ASBURY PEPPERS.

That we can't have our little habits of tobacce, coffee, tea, whiskey, etc., and follow them as we please. We can do pretty well with them if we happen to have an iron constitution, but if we find coffee, for instance, "don't agree" we can really have a lot better time in letting it out and using Postum Cereal Food Coffee that will help build up instead of tear down, after all "The greatest fun in all the world is the fun of